Mr. William V. Skidmore
Office of Management and Budget
Washington, D. C. 20503

Dear Mr. Skidmore:

This is in reply to your memorandum of November 26, 1974, requesting our views on a substitute draft bill to S. 1688, "To amend title 5, U.S.C., to protect civilian employees of the executive branch of the United States Government in the enjoyment of their constitutional rights, to prevent unwarranted governmental invasions of their privacy, and for other purposes," which was prepared by the Committee on the Right of Privacy.

Since the exemption granted the Central Intelligence Agency in section (b) of the bill constitutes a full exemption, no comments are being offered on the merits of the bill, except to confirm our prior comments requesting an exemption from bills in previous Congresses identical to S. 1688. We are grateful that the Committee on the Right of Privacy has recognized our concerns.

We appreciate the opportunity to comment on this proposed legislation.

Sincerely,

SIGNED

Would appreciate your comments on the attached draft bill by 11 December.

The draft was prepared by the President's Committee on the Right of Privacy and is an Administration substitute for S. 1688, the Ervin bill protecting the constitutional rights of Government employees. S. 1688 passed the Senate and is before the House Government Operations Committee. The Committee, however, is considering a Committee Print which was scheduled for markup but there was no quorum.

The exemption for the Agency in section (b), page 7 of the draft bill, should constitute a full exemption. Do you agree? It is similar to our exemption in H.R. 1281, a similar bill, which you previously considered a full exemption. John Martiny, Chief Counsel, House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, assures me the same exemption is in the Committee Print.

2 information concerning his personal relationship with any individual
3 related to him by blood or marriage, his religious beliefs or practices,
4 or his attitude or conduct with respect to sexual matters. This 5 paragraph does not prohibit -

6 "(A) a physician from eliciting this information or authorizing
7 these tests in the diagnosis or treatment of an employee or 8 applicant in individual cases and not pursuant to general practice
9 or regulation governing the examination of employees or applicants,
10 when the physician considers the information necessary to enable 11 him to determine whether or not the employee or applicant is 12 suffering from mental illness;,,

13 "(B) an official of an Executive agency from advising an employee
14 or applicant of a specific charge of sexual misconduct made against 15 the employee or applicant and giving him a full opportunity to 16 refute the charge; or

17 "(C) an official of an Executive agency from eliciting, from an 18 employee or applicant, in individual cases and not pursuant to 19 general practice or regulation, information concerning the personal
20 relationship of the employee or applicant with any individual
21 related to him by blood or marriage, when that official considers 22 the information necessary in the interest of national security;

23 "(5) coerce or require, or attempt to coerce or require, an employee
24 of an Executive agency to invest his earnings in bonds or other obligati
25 or securities issued by the United States or by an Executive agency, or

1 make donations to any institution or cause of any kind. This paragraph
2 does not prohibit an official of an Executive agency from calling
3 meetings and taking any action appropriate to inform an employee of the 4 opportunity -

5 "(A) voluntarily to invest his earnings in bonds or other
6 obligations or securities issued by the United States or by an
7 Executive agency; or

8 "(B) voluntarily to make donations to any institution or cause;

9 "(6) require or request, or attempt to require or request, an employee
10 of an Executive agency (other than a Presidential appointee) to disclose
11 his property or the property of any member of his family or household.

12 This paragraph does not prohibit -

13 "(A) the Department of the Treasury or any other Executive
14 agency from requiring an employee to make such reports as may be 15 necessary or appropriate for the determination of his liability
16 for taxes, tariffs, customs duties, or similar obligations to the 17 United States; or

18 "(B) an official of an Executive agency from requiring an 19 employee who participates in any manner in, or may affect, any 20 determination with respect to -

21 "(i) a Government contract or grant;

22 "(ii) the regulation or licensing of non-Federal enterprise;

23 "(iii) the tax or other liability of any person to the

24 United States; or

1           "(iv) a claim that requires expenditure of money of the 2           United States;

3           from disclosing specific items of the property of that employee,
4           or specific items of the property of any member of his family or 5           household, which may tend to indicate a conflict of interest with 6           respect to the performance of any of the official duties to which 7           the employee is or may be assigned.

8           As used in this paragraph, 'property' includes items of property, income,
9           and other assets, and the source thereof, liabilities, and personal and 10          domestic expenditures;

11          "(7) prohibit or restrict, or attempt to prohibit or restrict, the 12          exercise by an employee of an Executive agency of the right of reasonable 13          communication with any official of his agency; or

14          "(8) remove, suspend or furlough from duty without pay, demote, reduce 15          in rank, seniority, status, pay, or performance or efficiency rating, 16          deny promotion to, relocate, reassign, discipline, or discriminate in 17          regard to any employment right, entitlement, or benefit or any term or 18          condition of employment of, an employee of an Executive agency, or 19          threaten to commit any of those acts, by reason of -

20                "(A) the refusal or failure of the employee to submit to or 21                comply with any requirement, request, or action prohibited by this 22                subsection; or

23                "(B) the exercise by the employee of any right, entitlement,
24                benefit, or other protection granted or secured by this section.

1     "(b) The provisions of subsection (a) of this section do not apply to -

2         "(1) the Central Intelligence Agency;

3         "(2) the National Security Agency;

4         "(3) the Federal Bureau of Investigation; or

5         "(4) any other Executive agency, or part thereof, as the President,

6         in the interest of national security, may designate.

7     "(c) An employee of, or an applicant for employment in, an Executive agency

8     who claims to be aggrieved by a violation or threatened violation of subsection

9     (a) of this section is entitled to file a grievance with the agency concerned

10    not later than 15 days after the date of the violation or threatened violation."

11    (b) The analysis of chapter 71 of title 5, United States Code, is amended by

12    adding the following at the end thereof:

13                     "SUBCHAPTER III - EMPLOYEE RIGHTS

Analysis of differences between draft bill and S. 1688

The primary purpose of the draft substitute bill for S. 1688 is to soften the effect of the provisions of S. 1688 on Government operations by including appropriate exceptions to most of the prohibitions therein and by eliminating the provisions which would be most difficult to administer and most disruptive of Government operations. The substitute bill has been drafted in the form of amendments to title 5, United States Code, which contains most personnel statutes relating to Government employees. The draft bill adds a subchapter III, "Employee Rights," composed of sections 7171, 7172, and 7173, to chapter 71 of title 5.

Section 7171, Policy, reaffirms the intent of S. 1688 to protect constitutional rights of Government employees and prevent unwarranted governmental invasions of their privacy by stating that the policy of the United States, as an employer, is to assure that those officials of Executive agencies charged with administrative or supervisory responsibility recognize and protect the personal and individual rights, entitlements, and benefits of employees of and applicants for employment in Executive agencies.

The proposed section 7172 in the draft bill contains definitions extending coverage to officers of Executive agencies and uniformed services and those purporting to act under the authority of the officer.

The proposed section 7173(a) contains eight paragraphs comparable in content to most of the subsections of section 1 of S. 1688. Paragraph (1), comparable to section 1(a) of S. 1688, prohibits inquiries of employees or applicants about race, religion, or national origin, but adds to the exceptions inquiries related to discrimination complaints, scientific research program evaluation, and Indian preference.

The proposed paragraphs (2) and (3) in the draft bill, comparable to section 1(b), (c), and (d) of S. 1688, prohibit required or requested attendance at meetings or activities not related to official duties or making a report of such absence or nonparticipation. The draft bill makes exceptions for conflict-of-interest situations, where the activity adversely affects the performance of official duties, and requests for assistance from public service programs or organizations.

The proposed paragraph (4), comparable to section 1(e) and 1(f) of S. 1688, prohibits inquiries, including the use of the polygraph, concerning an employee's personal relationship with any individual related to him by blood or marriage, his religious beliefs or practices or his attitude or conduct with respect to sexual matters." The draft bill adds to the exceptions in the bill an additional exception for national security matters.

The draft bill does not contain a provision comparable to section 1(g) of S. 1688 because the political activities provisions of existing law are comparable to this provision.

The proposed paragraph (5), comparable to section 1(h) of S. 1688, prohibits forced participation in bond drives or other campaigns of any institution. Both provisions allow meetings to afford employees the opportunity to make voluntary contributions.

The proposed paragraph (6), comparable to section 1(i) and (j) of S. 1688, prohibits inquiries about the property of an employee or his family. The draft bill adds to the exceptions ones for participants in Government contracts or grants and the regulation or licensing of non-Federal enterprises.

The proposed paragraph (7), reaffirming the right of an employee to reasonable communication with any official of his agency is a replacement for section 1(k), which prohibits any interrogation of an employee under investigation for misconduct without the presence of the employee's counsel or other person of his choice. (If this latter provision were enacted and broadly construed it could cause massive disruption of the day-to-day operations of the Government.)

The proposed paragraph (8) in the draft bill, comparable to section 1(l) of S. 1688, prohibits retaliatory action against an employee for refusing to comply with requirements or requests prohibited by the section.

The proposed section 7173(b) in the draft bill excludes from its coverage the CIA, NSA, FBI, and any other agency designated by the President for national security reasons.

Sections 6, 7, and 8 of S. 1688 exempts the CIA and NSA from some of the bill's provisions while section 9 exempts the FBI from all of the bill's provisions.

The proposed section 7173(c) in the draft bill authorizes employees to file grievances with their agencies for violations of the provisions of the bill. This is a substitute for the provisions of sections 4 and 5 of S. 1688 providing for judicial review and review by a Board of Employee Rights, as well as a grievance procedure under section 10 of S. 1688. Sections 2 and 3 of S. 1688 have been made unnecessary by the broader language of the substitute draft bill.
